RECEIVING ATTENTION.

THE PRESIDENT CONSIDERING THE SEALING QUESTION.

A Consultation Held This Morning—A Cabinet Meeting Will Take up the Subject To-morrow Morning—A Cart Load of Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The President took up the Behring sea matter the first thing this morning. Though other subjects have absorbed a larger share of public attention than the Behring sea business, it ranks first in international importance. It came over from the State department figuratively marked "must," and as soon as he had finished breakfast the President sent for Third Secretary Moore, who has had this matter under his charge ever since the Cleveland Bayard British fisheries convention, and who is better posted as the details of the controversy than any other official, and is Acting Secretary of State. He brought with him papers bearing on the subject and had a prolonged interview. Shortly after his arrival in the presidential library Attorney-General Miller was sent for. He was shortly afterwards joined by Secretary of War Proctor, Secretary of the Navy Tracy and later by Secretary Foster. Practically an informal cabinet meeting was held on the Behring Sea question and it is understood that some matters discussed were left undetermined at the close of the consultation. The sealing season is so near commencement that a decision is imperative within a few days, aside from all considerations of the urgent representations made by Great Britain for some decisive action in the case. The subject will come up again in the cabinet meeting to-morrow.

Extradited on False Pretenses.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Barrister J. H. Pillet of Montreal was at the State Department a day or two since in conference with Assistant Secretary Moore on a very peculiar extradition case. Some time ago the husband of Leda Lamontaigne was murdered by her brother and Ledna was an eye witness of the crime. When her brother was on trial. Leda refused to testify. She was acquitted of any complicity in the crime and went to Boston, where she secured employment. Last August a warrant for arson was issued against Leda, under which she was extradited and placed in jail at Sherbrooke, Ont. The brother was convicted without the woman's evidence and was hanged. The lawyer claims that the woman, instead of being tried for arson, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for contempt of court in refusing to testify against her brother and therefore her imprisonment is illegal and she should be liberated. Mr. Pillet is also in consultation with Sir Julian Pauncefote on the case.

Disastrous Collision.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 19.—At Philaria, Ala., early this morning a rear end collision occurred between two south-bound freights on the Louisville & Nashville Railway. Brakeman J. J. Costello was instantly killed, and the body burned in the wreck. Fireman L. Brown was also killed, and engineer Edmunds mortally hurt. Three oil cars took fire and the wreck was consumed. The collision was caused by the second train approaching the station too fast.

$75 a Week Alimony.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Nella R. Goodwin, wife of Nat C. Goodwin, has been awarded $75 a week alimony, pending the action for a limited divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion. The judge also allowed her counsel fee of $250. Counsel on behalf of the action agreed in court to pay her that amount of alimony and a reasonable counsel fee.

Indicted for Murder.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Ameer Ben Ali, otherwise "Frenchy No. 1," the Algerian who murdered old Carrie Brown in the East River Hotel, was to-day indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury. There are four counts to the indictment, each one of which is sufficiently strong to hold him.

A Canadian Case.

The case of Mrs. E. A. Storey, of Shetland, Ont., is remarkable proof of the efficacy of Burdock Blood Bitters in headache. THE RING.

KILRAIN GOES INTO TRINING.

BELFAST, N. Y., May 19.—Jake Kilrain, William Muldoon, Mike Cleary and Mr. Malloy arrived from New York on Saturday, and will remain until the 2nd of July. To-day Kilrain commenced active training for his contest with Slavin, which takes place June 16. Kilrain is in poor condition, and will be obliged to work hard in order to get in shape, but Muldoon expects to bring him to the scratch in good shape. He will train under the same system as Sullivan did.

THE COMING FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Nothing new has developed in regard to the Corbett-Jackson match during the past week. Both pugilists are attending to their training in their peculiar ways and it would not be surprising on Thursday night to find neither in first-class condition. Corbett has been too long if anything at work, and Jackson too short, and one is likely to be a trifle stale and the other undertrained. The undertrained man is always better off than one who has got stale. Corbett's tendency is naturally to get down too fine. He is a young athlete and this is his first important contest, and no matter how stolid a man may be he cannot get it out of his head that he must do a lot of work under such circumstances.

Jackson has a happy-go-lucky style of training that shows him to be unconcerned about his coming battle. He is a much older hand at the game than Corbett, and therefore gives the approaching match less thought than his younger and more sensitive opponent. The colored man will have put in about three good weeks.

It would not be at all surprising if both men would be in a better fix next Thursday night if the cases were reversed and Jackson had nine weeks' preparation and Jim three.

There is nothing on the eve of a battle that would indicate that Jackson should not be the winner somewhere in the neighborhood of 15 rounds. It cannot be said surely that he will win, for no one can tell what Corbett may do. The young professor is practically an unknown, and may be the best in the world, but judging the men by their actual performances in fight, Jackson ought to bag the $10,000 purse. It looks as if Corbett will not scale 185 pounds on Thursday night, and Peter will be 198 pounds if he is a pound, so that, in the first important matter of size, he has the best of it, and weight is a lot in Queensberry rule fighting.

In discussions on the coming fight a great deal of stress is laid on Jim's determination to punish Jackson on the body. This kind of talk proposes the idea that one man is a punch-bag and the other the puncher. From what is known both of Corbett and Jackson, no man can punish either on any part of the other's anatomy without getting plenty of chance in return. Any man who hits at Peter's ribs is likely to catch it good and hot on the ear. Peter cannot hit as hard as John L. or slugging Slavin, who can fracture the jaws and ribs with one good swipe, but Peter hit big Joe McAuliffe hard enough on the ear to start the blood from that well developed organ of the Mission boy and keep it flowing for many rounds in their fight. He hit Cardiff and Godfrey hard enough in the ribs when they tried for his head to make them drop their hands. Peter might be a light hitter compared with Slavin or a mule, but any man hit by this stalwart 200-pounder will be hurt to feel it, and when the dose is repeated often enough it will tell on the stoutest of them.

There is no sure line on Corbett by which to judge of what he can do with Jackson. He may prove a veritable phenomenon, and notwithstanding his inexperience, his poor hands, and the natural diffidence of a comparative novice, he may go at the Australian in a sleepy style and win. He may pan out of the fight by clever tactics, and, making it a question of youth, endurance and training, tire out his opponent and capture the purse. If he does either, and keeps from getting licked in twenty rounds, he is a wonder that Californians who take an interest in arenic matters should be proud of, and ready to back against any man in the world, the terrible Slavin not excepted.

There is no doubt that Corbett will make a game fight. In his few ring performances thus far he has shown himself so much better than expectation that it is evident his townsmen underrate him. He is unquestionably a far better man than most people in San Francisco interested in ring matters give him credit for.

CYCLING.

There doesn't seem to be much stir among Victoria wheelists in the matter of training for the coming races. It may be that they don't need to, that there is a lot of hidden good in them; but it may be also that they will let the cycle trophies, too, go to the Mainland. Piper seems to be the only one making any preparation to uphold Victoria's honors.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A POOL PLAYER'S CHALLENGE.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Albert C. Powers, who was deprived of the pool championship by Derro last week, sent the following to the Brunswick Company yesterday: "I hereby challenge Alfred Derro to play me for the championship of America at continuous pool and a stake of $1000 a side, the contest to take place in Chicago. I enclose to you the necessary forfeit money."

TWO BIG PAIRS.

Wm. O'Connor and Edward Hanlan have accepted the challenge of Gaudaur and McKay for a double scull race. The race will take place in six or eight weeks.

So many have been cured of rheumatism by Hood's Sarsaparilla that we urge all who suffer from the disease to try this remedy.

AN INCIPIENT MUTINY.

AN OUTBREAK IN LISBON AVERTED BY THE KING AND QUEEN.

Trouble Among the Cotton and Woolen Factories—The Kaiser and a Companion Have a Narrow Escape—Russia and the Rothschilds.

LONDON, May 19.—Lisbon advices state that an outbreak has been only averted by the payment of the arrears to the troops of the garrison, who have been showing signs of discontent—discontent, an incipient mutiny. King Charles himself advanced the money for the payment of the palace guards and employes out of his own private purse, and Queen Amelia did the same for the females of the royal household. Considerable excitement was caused in Lisbon last evening by a report that the King and Queen had started incognito for Madrid. For a time there was much hurrying to and fro in the streets, and groups gathered in a menacing manner. The speedy and authorative denial of the report prevented mischief. There is no concealment of the fact that the army would be with the people in the event of trouble.

TROUBLE IN COTTON FACTORIES.

The operatives in the cotton and woolen factories have been showing much uneasiness for several days past and the police not on the streets are kept in reserve for anything that might occur.

SPAIN WILL INTERFERE.

A Madrid dispatch says that a large body of Spanish troops is kept on the Portuguese frontier and that a Spanish squadron is cruising near Lisbon. The Spanish Government makes no secret of its intention to intervene should a republic be declared in Portugal.

ROYAL ENGAGEMENTS.

A Berlin dispatch says that the reported engagements between the Czarewitch and the Princess Helen, of Montenegro, has created no surprise, and the two families are already closely connected. Such an engagement would greatly strengthen the claims of the Montenegrian Prince to the sovereignity of Servia, based on inter-marriage with the Karagorgevitch family. It is already strengthened by the scandalous conduct of the ex-King Milan and his divorced queen, and would give Russia a powerful grasp of the group of independent Balkan States. Princess Helen is about 18 years of age.

A VIGILENT SOLDIER.

A story has just leaked out in Berlin to the effect that Prince Adolph of Schomberg-Lippe, had a narrow escape from being shot during the Kaiser's visit to Bonn. It appears that the Kaiser and Prince Adolph, after leaving the student's debauch about midnight, went to alarm the garrison by ordering the men to turn out from their sleep ready for action. The Kaiser and the Prince were only attended by an aide-de-camp, Col. DeLippe. The Prince being under the influence of heavy potations did not mind the challenge of the sentinel at the gate and was pressing forward when the man raised his rifle and was about to fire and would have fired but for Col. DeLippe, who called out the rank of the visitors. Thereupon the sentinel at once presented arms. Instead of approving the man's vigilance the Kaiser ordered him under arrest. He was discharged from custody the following morning, but insisted upon a hearing and vindication, which could not be denied him and this brought out the facts of the case.

WILL SUE THE ROTHSCHILDS.

According to a St. Petersburg dispatch, the Russian Government is considering the question of suing the Rothschilds. The suit will be instituted in Berlin, if at all. The Rothschilds are firmly bound to the Russian Government to handle the loan, the contract having been signed 26 years ago between Baron Rothschild and the Russian Finance Minister. The Rothschilds have so far claimed that it is inexpedient to float a loan at the present time.

QUEEN NATALIE WILL NOT LEAVE.

No Russian or other outside influences are suspected in the attempted expulsion of Queen Natalie from Belgrade. The ex-Queen considers herself a grossly injured woman and it is admitted that ex-King Milan's divorce from her was unlawfully obtained. She refuses to leave Servia. The note from the Government announcing the skuptschina that she ought to quit the country, was handed to her, and a condition bordering on civil war is the result.

SLAVERY STILL FLOURISHING.

Tangier advices state that Sir Chas. Evan-Smith, the new British Minister to Morocco, has began a crusade for the abolition of slavery, which still flourishes in that empire, the slaves being brought from Timbuctoo and other important points to be sold in the Moorish cities. Thousands of boys and girls have been brought in caravans from the interior, and the children are offered for sale in Fez and other places. The children, especially the boys, are treated with terrible cruelty.

NATALIE EXILED.

The ex-Queen of Servia Forced to Leave Belgrade Under an Escort of Soldiers.

BELGRADE, May 19.—During early morning, Gendarmes attacked the cordon of citizens and students and succeeded in breaking through. They entered the palace and the officer in command summoned Queen Natalie, who was still resting in private apartments, to arise instantly and quit the palace and country. The queen replied in complying with the orders of the regent, that she yielded to force. On leaving to step into the waiting carriage, Natalie, who was surrounded by gendearms with loaded muskets, appealed to the citizens and students who menacingly pressed about her escort, to no further resist the officers. It was, she said, her first desire to avert the spilling of the blood of the people. The escort then closed in about the carriage which the Queen entered and it was rapidly driven to the railway station where a train was waiting the arrival of the gendarmes with the royal prisoner. The Queen was at once placed on board and the train started for the Hungarian frontier. From the moment of her leaving the palace until she took a seat in the railway carriage no further demonstration in behalf of the ex-Queen was made by the populace. However, the excitement still runs high, and popular rage, while vented against the regency as a whole, is especially directed toward Minister of War Oridinal. The plan, which was to take Natalie out of the country on a yacht was abandoned at the last moment for prudential reasons. In the fight at the palace last night between the gendearmes and a cordon of students and citizens, one man was killed and 50 injured.

OTTAWA NEWS.

Committee of the Trades and Labor Council Wait on Sir John.

Special to the TIMES.

OTTAWA, May 19.—The executive committee of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council waited on Sir John to-day. They were accompanied by several members of parliament. Messrs. Bowell and Carling were present. President Lafontaine said they wanted assisted passages stopped, prohibition of Chinese, no private detective bureaus, right of appeal for seamen in certain cases, inspection of gear and tackling, and part of the combine act which affected trades unions removed. Sir John, in reply, said that in the meantime we were not troubled by Chinese in the east, there being only one or two to wash our clothes. It was a matter touching British Columbia. Most of those who came into British Columbia went to the States. Owing to the policy of the States of excluding Chinese, which was losing to that country China's trade, it would be bad policy for us to pursue a similar course, after spending millions of money in building the Canadian Pacific Railway and placing a fast steamship line on the Pacific to obtain their trade. If the time came when they came in by hundreds of thousands he might think of prohibition. He favored a poll tax of $50, and said there was no assistance given to immigrants. He briefly replied to the other questions. Prior and Gordon were present.

After a tilt between both sides in the House over the Government not bringing down the reciprocity papers referred to in the speech from the throne, the House went into supply on the estimates.

THE ESTIMATES.

In the House of Commons yesterday the estimates for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1892, were presented. The total amount to be voted is $23,690,511. Included were the following appropriations for British Columbia:

Vancouver P. O	$40,000
Victoria Drill Shed	20,000
Victoria Harbor	6,000
Fraser River	20,000
Columbia River (above Golden)	5,000
Columbia River (between Revelstoke and Arrow Lakes)	6,000
Kootenay River, improvements	7,000
Nicomeckle River, improvements	500
General Improvements	3,000
Telegraph from Nanaimo to Comox	1,000
British Columbia Indians (increase of)	6,000
Customs Service (increase of)	3,000
Victoria P.O. Employees (for increase of Salaries)	2,000

The warden of the British Columbia penitentiary, deputy warden and Roman Catholic chaplain, each receive an increase of fifty dollars, and the hospital overseer one hundred dollars. Several of the guards receive an increase. The immigration agent at Victoria gets an increase of $200. There is no proposal for an increase of the judges' salaries, and no provision for drilling the entire militia force. Among the big amounts to be voted are $150,000 for the revision of the voters' lists, and $175,000 for the census.

Col. Prior will move for all reports of Col. Homes to the Minister of Militia since January, 1888, regarding the C Battery Barracks, the Victoria drill hall, and the removal of the magazine from Beacon Hill Park.

Mr. Mara will ask for the correspondence between the Minister of Customs and the collector of Kootenay relative to the free admission of mining machinery.

Mr. Gordon asks for a detailed statement of Chinese immigration.

Macdonnell, Conservative, was elected in Algoma to-day, by 319 majority. The Manitoulin Islands are yet to hear from. The Conservative majority is much greater than at the late election.

Algoma Election.

SUDBURY, May 19.—The latest returns from the Algoma elections give a majority of 280 for Macdonnell with the following places to hear from: Silver Mountain, Rainy River and Fort Francis. The two latter places are not expected to be heard from before to-morrow.

PERSONAL.

Movements of Well Known People in Various Directions.

Wm. Newton, the Port Crescent real estate agent, is at the Oriental.

A. J. Simpson, accountant with the H. B. Co., has gone to Banff for a holiday and a rest.

Thos. R. Smith leaves for the Mainland this evening, and will probably spend a week at Harrison Hot Springs before his return. Mr. Smith's health is not yet all it should be.

Geo. Laing, agencies superintendent of the British Empire Mutual Life, is in Victoria. It is just about a year ago—at the time of the loss of the Sardonyx, as he is one of the survivors—since Mr. Laing was here, and he is surprised at the marvellous growth of the city, and the remarkable increase in real estate values. And life insurence men know a thing or two about values, remunerative investments, etc., etc.

COD FISHING FOR SPORT.

A Ten or Fifteen-Pounder Makes a Good Fight Before He Is Landed.

Of course, the idea strikes one as rather tame, but when followed under the right conditions you will find excitement lurking around on all sides, as well as underneath. Shoal water fish, when taken with a hook and line, act much livelier than when they are in deep water, so that a ten or fifteen-pounder makes considerable fight before he is landed, says Forest and Stream.

In the outfit, any kind of boat not likely to drown you will do, linen tautog lines, with rather small sized bass hooks, two on each line, with respectively twenty-four and thirty-inch snoods, sinker weighing three or four ounces. In bait, fresh menhaden, herring, small fish, lobster or clams. Start in the evening, soon after daylight has gone and as soon as the moon is well up. Go from one-third to two-thirds as far from the shore as you would fish in the daytime. Keep the hooks about three feet from the bottom in from five to ten fathoms of water. There is a weird excitement in this kind of fishing found in no other. You hear the distant cry of the bittern and night heron, notice the phosphorescent trail made by some stray shark or big fish as he plunges by, watch the long ground swell, until it seems as if it were really alive, and, with the swash of the sea on shore, you by this time have a mighty sharp bite from a cod, and he does not all resemble a log as you pull, but tries his best to get away until landed.

During the fishing a spine dogfish or so investigates; then comes a peculiar kind of bite, and, as you look over, there is something alongside that reminds you of the mouth of an old-fashioned carpet bag with nails on end stuck around the edge; this is a goose or bellows fish, whose use, as yet, has not been found out. Now you think you have got fast to the bottom, but soon find it is a skate about four feet across, which comes up slowly in circles, having by prowling around got a hook in one of his numerous outer edges. Then, by fishing about half-way to the bottom, you can catch quantities of frost fish or whiting. Codfish are more numerous inshore, and bite better during the night than in the daytime. If, after you are through fishing, you still wish for more excitement, just catch a sea wrong, or, rather, let it catch you right, as you land on the beach, and you will get enough in the next few seconds to last well into the morning.

PRETTY CHEEKS.

They Are Not Always Easy to Get, but Nature Can Be Helped.

Pretty cheeks are a rare finishing touch, an otherwise handsome face being often spoiled by high cheek bones and thin or flabby cheeks, says the Metropolitan. The high cheek bones can scarcely be softened unless the cheeks are made firm and plump. Contrivances worn in the mouth for filling out the cheeks have been resorted to, but scarcely without great discomfort; and the only reasonable way of accomplishing the desired result is to take on more flesh and to study carefully the dressing of the hair.

In some instances, however, there will be a superfluity of flesh where it is not wanted, while the cheeks persist in remaining thin. A firm, round cheek, with a slight dimple showing with every smile, is a most attractive charm, and the sister of a young gentleman who had a pencil accidently thrust through one cheek in boyhood, leaving an indentation that was a quite natural looking dimple, was wont to remark that she really wished it had happened to her, as she would have thrust a pencil through the other cheek and felt abundantly repaid by her increase of beauty.

But her enthusiasm did not reach the point of decorating both cheeks herself. Bathing the cheeks two or three times a day with weak ammonia water in which a small piece of alum has been dissolved tends to make the flesh firm and smooth. The common practice of pressing one cheek into the pillow while sleeping is very injurious to beauty of outline, and it also produces wrinkles.

EFFECT OF THE VOICE.

It Can Impress or Inspire to Cheerfulness by Its Tones Alone.

Probably no one can fully estimate how much influence he is constantly exerting through his tones of voice. Nothing is so powerful to cheer the drooping energies of a discouraged group as the inspiring tones of hope in the words of a new arrival. Who has not seen the immediate effect of a glad and sprightly voice breaking in upon a dull and uninterested party of people? How their eyes brighten, and their brows clear, and their forms become erect, says the New York Ledger. On the other hand, let a solemn, or doleful, or fretful voice break in on a gay and cheerful company, and how quickly the smile dies on the lip, and the depressing influence goes round. The infant who can not understand a word that his mother says is soothed and pleased, or grieved and frightened by her tones, and the seeds thus sown of love and gentleness, or of harshness and impatience, are sure to bear fruit in his later development, and exert a strong influence in mellowing his future character, and preparing it to contend the better with the roughness of the world.

London's "Creepy-Crawly" Cold.

Despite all the grumble about the cold, it is rather an open question in which corner of the earth you feel cold the most. I really think that you feel cold in England more than anywhere else, says a writer in a London paper. It is the grayness of the cold that subdues you. Now, I have known a Russian winter, with its bright, blue sky overhead and copper-barked pines gleaming in the sun, and although that cold is so great that if you walked out minus your furs in front of the Palazzo you would nearly drop down dead, yet you never have the same sense of depression that we have here. I have never in my life felt cold so much as I have when on a steam-launch in the Pool in winter—a dampness, a creepy-crawliness, a general sense of misery that I never found elsewhere.

NO USE FOR CONSUL CORTE.

His Recall is Demanded by Mayor Shakespeare of New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., May 18.—Mayor Shakespeare yesterday addressed a letter to Governor Nichols, in which he calls attention to the course of Consul Corte since the lynching of the Italians, and asks that the consul's exequatur be recalled. The letter concludes as follows:

"If the Italian consul, Mr. Corte, has ever had any usefulness here he has outlived it, and has become, through his own acts, not only an unacceptable person, but an element of danger to this community, in that, by his utterances, he incites his inflammable people to riot or sullen opposition to the laws and customs of this country, where they have sought an asylum.

"Being the depository, as he confesses himself to be, of criminal secrets relating to individuals of his race resident among us, he refuses to give to the department of police and justice the information he has, and thereby increases the danger to the community from these criminals.

"For these reasons I have the honor to request that you ask of the honorable secretary at Washington the recall of Consul Corte's exequatur by the President."

Let the Aged Read and Rejoice.

A medical writer of note says: "When we advance in years, the bones harden, the muscles become stiff, the cartilages are converted into bones, the membranes into cartilages, the stomach and bowels lose their tone, and the whole fabric, instead of being soft, flexible, and obedient to the inclinations, or even the commands of the mind, becomes rigid, inactive and feeble."

Paine's Celery Compound has done much for the old. It has given them renewed feelings of activity, and taken away the rigidness and stiffness of old age, and lent great elasticity and flexibility to every muscle. It strengthens the nervous system, and is a reorganizer of the digestive organism, keeping it in perfect and harmonious working. We know of hundreds of aged men and women in Canada, who have renewed life, and have added years to it from the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

WHITE ROCK, B. C.

This Townsite is situated on Semiahmoo Bay, and is the only deep water seaport between the International Bounday Line and Vancouver, B.C. It will probably be the Mainland starting-point of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. It is now the outlet for the finest agricultural district in British Columbia.

The C.P.R. has made a survey of a line from Vancouver direct to this point. The Royal City Planing Mills Company has built a substantial wharf here, and has established a lumber yard, which supplies the farmers of this district. A handsome Hotel has been erected and building is going on rapidly. Several influential and far-sighted corporations have acquired large tracts of land surrounding this Townsite.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW.

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 12th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the DRAGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

SUITS TO ORDER

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

"THE ESTIMATES."

Forty thousand dollars for the Vancouver Post Office, $20,000 for the Victoria drill-shed, $6000 for VICTORIA HARBOR. Between the first city in the Province and the second a difference of $14,000 in favor of the latter! We do not grudge Vancouver this appropriation. On the contrary, we congratulate her. We simply call attention to the Government's munificence as showing the manifold advantages of "political pull."

Reverting to Victoria, we find $20,000 for a drill-shed, $6000 for harbor improvements. This reminds us of a story told of an American army officer who had been ordered to provide supplies for some expedition the Government had in contemplation. His heaviest expenditure was for whisky. One would suppose from the character of the Victoria appropriation that hostilities were imminent, and that the glorious climate of this city was unfavorable to drill in the open air. Of course we do not object to a drill shed for Victoria. The martial spirit of her young men must not be damped by exposure to the mists of the Pacific nor to the chilly breezes that sometimes waft themselves across the straits from the snow-capped Olympians; but $20,000 for a drill shed $6000, for harbor improvements! We see a shade on the face of Mr. ROBT. WARD, and the atmosphere is murky in the office of R. P. RITHET & Co. The character of this appropriation sets the Victoria representatives down as men who seem to have no conception whatever of the true interests of this city. Victoria certainly is entitled to as much of an appropriation as Vancouver, and that appropriation should have been distributed as follows: Ten thousand dollars for a drill shed, $30,000 for harbor improvements. As it is, however, the appropriation for harbor improvements is an insult to the commercial men of this city. As a representative of this city, we would resign before we would countenance an expenditure comparable in point of utility to the individual who lives in a fine house but confines his diet to bread and water. Victoria is indeed fortunate in her representatives.

THE COLONIST WHINES.

Our contemporary attempts to justify its attitude on the question of experimental "sheep ranching" by pointing out that it "advocated the importation of machinery for mining purposes free of duty." A lame defence. Had the hardware men of British Columbia petitioned for the free entry of mining machinery, the case would be analagous to that of the British Columbia Cattle Company, and the Colonist might reasonably urge that its attitude is consistent. But free mining machinery means that those who import it shall be bona fide miners, not traders and speculators. We do not understand that a dollar's worth of mining machinery can be imported into this Province for speculative purposes. Then, again, free mining machinery, unless there has been a ruling since the concession was made, is a misnomer. In the concession it was provided that no part of the machinery that was manufactured in Canada should be exempt from duty. Now, as nuts and bolts and other plain features of such machinery are manufactured in Canada, it is easy to perceive that the concession was more nominal than real. At least such was the contention at the time, and unless there has been a ruling since, making machinery in all its parts free, the miners have reaped little or no benefit from the concession. But the feature of the Colonist's whine which most betrays its obtuseness is that in which it declares its inability "to see what can possibly induce British Columbia newspapers to oppose almost with violence" the proposal to engage in experimental "sheep ranching" on the scale proposed by the British Columbia Cattle Company. Does the Colonist regard the press of this Province as composed of a gang of fools? Sheep raising an experiment in British Columbia! and more, proposing to experiment on a scale involving 50,000 sheep! When the Colonist asks the press of this province to swallow experimental "sheep ranching" of this kind, and that in the face of the fact that sheep are proscribed by law in this Province, it asks too much for even willing gullibility. But the really commanding feature of the whole business according to the gospel of N. P. is, that the remission of the duty on sheep would be a violation of the fundamental principles of N. P., and inimical to sheep growing interests in Eastern Canada. The British Columbia contingent was elected on the straight N. P. ticket; let British Columbia accept the logical consequences of that ticket. As with bad laws so with bad policies. The surest way to get rid of them is to enforce them. The TIMES will insist that there be no modification of N. P. and especially where the modification proposed is in the exclusive interest of a stock raising oligarchy.

THE MOSSBACK ALARMIST.

The future English historian will devote at least one chapter to the curious form of blockheadism, as manifest in the opposition to the tunneling and bridging of the Straits of Dover. The tunnel scheme has been abandoned, for political reasons, it is said. The bridge scheme, however, is on the tapis, and certain eminent English engineers have pronounced it feasible. But, at this point, up jumps the alarmist. "Suppose," cries he, "that the bridge through treachery should fall into the hands of the enemies of England, the British fleet at the same time having suffered defeat? Why, in such an event, the armed legions of Europe would pour into England in swarms." This objection to the bridge is untenable for several reasons. In the first place it is quite as reasonable to expect that there should be treachery in the British navy as with those whose duty it was to guard the bridge. Secondly, the navy beaten, what is to prevent the invasion of England, bridge or no bridge? Says a sapient writer on the subject: "The safety of England, if the bridge were built, would depend more than ever on the invincibility of her fleet." This brilliant critic cannot see that it is the supposed invincibility of the British fleet that at present keeps at bay an invading force. The British mossback alarmist will come in for some high old ridicule by the historian of posterity.

POLITICAL NOTES.

La Minerve, according to the Globe, says: "There is no longer a doubt as to the course which the Government will pursue; the Conservative party has too many important national interests in its hands to bind its fortunes to any personality no matter whose." "If this be true," observes the Globe, "Mr. McGREEVY would be foolish to suffer all the guilt and disgrace in silence. He owes it to himself and to his constituents, to say nothing of his obligation to public morality, to tell the whole story from first to last no matter who may be hurt. Another report says Mr. TARTE will produce documentary evidence proving that Sir HECTOR gave his own receipts for large sums. This would effectually prevent him from sacrificing Mr. McGREEVY. Ministerial papers like La Minerve and La Presse admit that Sir JOHN is very anxious, and that the party is crumbling into groups upon this and other subjects, such as the Manitoba school question."

The Globe puts down Mr. COLBY as the only logical protectionist in the cabinet. He saw, says the Globe in effect, that to promise reciprocity in natural products was to admit the folly of reciprocity in any form. The farmers of Stanstead defeated him, but he can boast that he was consistent in his doctrine. Two men are now fighting for his seat at the council table. Sir JOHN would like to take Mr. ABBOTT in, but the rank and file from Quebec favor the appointment of Mr. IVES, a loyalist who spends part of his time in hurrahing for the Old Man and the Old Flag and the rest of it in developing Texas ranches.

A British court has just decided that the United States is a foreign country. The point was raised in a will case, and the court was called upon to rule upon it. An English lady was left a legacy of some $20,000 last Christmas on the condition that she should marry neither a foreigner nor any one of the name of SMITH. The lady, however, chose to wed an American, and the executors of the will at once declared that she had forfeited the legacy by marrying a foreigner. The defence was that Americans are not foreigners, but the Court of Probate held otherwise. It could scarcely have decided differently, notwithstanding the British origin of the neighboring nation. The court unquestionably is right. All persons, whatsoever their antecedents, not British subjects, are properly foreigners.

Recent experiments in Russia show that six feet of loosely shoveled snow, or five feet of beaten snow, or four feet of frozen snow, is sufficient to keep out bullets fired at any range over 100 yards. According to the German instructions, a parapet of 26 feet is sufficient to resist the fire of field guns.

Circumstances have arisen which again brings into notice the case of Charles R. Hammond of Cleveland, Ohio, street, London, fame. His own assertions of innocence heretofore have carried no weight with them.

Somewhat Inconsistent.

The British Columbia Cattle Company propose importing from Oregon some ten thousand head of sheep, and they have, it is understood, asked the Customs Department to remit the usual import duty of 30 per cent on the whole lot. * * * * They want to go into the sheep raising business in order to reduce the price of mutton to the people. Now, if it were a guarantee that mutton would be reduced 30 per cent. to the consumer by this importation, there could be no objection to the remission of the import duty. But no such guarantee is given, and it would need a prodigious amount of credulity in any consumer to believe that the price would as a result be reduced one cent lower than the extremest farthing that could be obtained for it. * * * * It is amusing to find a Tory paper like the Victoria Colonist supporting a remission of import duties in this case. Why, the paper was expatiating a few days ago on the glorious results of a national policy that was cementing a great nation by compelling the different provinces to grow rich by trading with one another instead of with their near neighbors to the south of the line. But in this case, though there are millions of sheep for sale in Eastern Canada, the fear that it will keep the price of mutton high if the sheep have to be imported from the far-away Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. And that is quite true (though it is ludicrously inconsistent for the Colonist to say so) and in every case where the tariff interferes with profitable trade with our neighbors the people of this Province are the sufferers by it, and it don't matter whether the article be sheep or threshing machines, or axle grease.—Ledger.

A Good Thing for Victoria.

The "practical opticians" will shortly open their store and then Victorians will not have to pay exhorbitant prices. All work to be done in our own city, the grinding of special lenses included.

The Empress at Singapore.

MONTREAL, May 19.—The Empress of Japan arrived at Singapore yesterday morning. She will stop over two days to give passengers an opportunity to see the city and visit the inland. She will then proceed to Hongkong.

No Quorum.

The monthly meeting of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital board was to have been held yesterday, but was postponed, there being no quorum. There is quite a lot of business to come before the meeting when it is held.

The Amount of Bonds

The amount of bonds given by Messrs. Dunsmuir's for the release of the tug Pilot was $1500. Nothing new has yet arisen in the case and as yet the owners of the Pilot have not been notified when the trial is to take place.

To Take Charge of the Choir.

Miss Kate McGregor, who, since her arrival in this city, has taken part, most creditably, in concerts and entertainments, will, on the first of June, take charge of the choir of the Calvary Baptist Church. In the meantime she is organizing the choir.

For the South.

The steamer Umatilla, which left for San Francisco this morning, took the following passengers from this port: M. B. Brady, D. Paisley, Miss E. McMicking, Mrs. A. R. Johnston, J. G. Hewlings, C. A. Stone, Dr. Lee and wife, George Doyle, George Courtney, B. Gordon and wife and J. H. Letham.

The Programmes Out.

The official programmes of the celebration are out, the number of about 10,000 having been issued by Crane, McGregor & Boggs. It is a neat piece of work, printed on good paper and is not made a loud advertising dodger. The same firm will issue the official programme of the regatta on Friday morning, with full list of entries.

They Made a Haul.

It now transpires that the breakage of the rear window of Kingham & Minor's jewelry establishment was not the only wrong done. There was a quantity of diamonds, amounting to about $500 in value, taken from the store by some means. The matter is being investigated by the authorities, who are seeking a clue to the perpetrators.

Mrs. Atkins' Death.

Mrs. Sarah Atkins, wife of Thomas Atkins, of Colwood, died this morning, at the age of 74 years. She was one of the earliest settlers of the Island having resided at Colwood for a number of years. She was a native of England. The funeral will take place from the residence Goldstream road at 1 o'clock, and from Christ Church Cathedral at 3 o'clock.

Fire Escapes.

Owners of buildings who, in accordance with the requirements of the city fire by-law, are contemplating the addition of fire escapes to their buildings, would do well to examine those of the New York Hotel and other places, erected by Braden & Stamford. They have been pronounced the best, and are designed and manufactured by this well known firm.

Their First Bazaar.

The Hebrew ladies association will take possession of Philharmonic Hall to-morrow for their first bazaar and concert. The ladies have been busy for a long while preparing fancy articles of all kinds so that the tables will be well filled and those who attend given a a chance to get some pretty and useful things. The concert will also be well worth attending as everything has been done to assure success.

A Good Freight.

Steamer Michigan arrived in from Portland last night, with about 175 tons of freight for Victoria consignees, as follows: M. & L. Samuel, Bejamin & Co., Henry Saunders, Marvin & Tilton, John Wilson, H. T. R. & Co., R. P. Rithet & Co. (Ltd.), S. Leiser, Langley & Co., S. Leiser, Hall, Goepel & Co., McLennan & McFeely, M. W. Waitt & Co., E. G. Prior & Co., Boucherat & Co. The Michigan left for Whatcom this morning.

Ready for the Race.

The little yacht Victoria, that has been built near the outer wharf, for H. Crump, was launched yesterday, and to-day made a trial trip. She acted speedily, and her owner is now thoroughly satisfied that she will make a showing in the races to be held on the 23rd. She is four tons burden, 27 feet hull, 4 feet deep and 4 feet 8 inches beam. Her hull is made entirely of iron, and she carries an immense amount of canvas.

Clearing Sale.

Lewis Lewis is going to sell his entire stock and has commissioned Mortimer & Co. to dispose of it by auction. The premises at present occupied by Mr. Lewis will be pulled down in a few days to permit of the erection of a three-story brick block, so that it is imperative that the goods be either sold or removed, and the former method of disposing of them has been decided on. Lewis has been famous for cheap goods, and his record in this respect will be more than sustained.

The Lacrosse Minstrels.

Professor W. H. Cross, the leader of the Lacrosse Minstrels, who will play at the Victoria Saturday next, is an old Victoria boy, and a born musician. He is a great favorite here, not only for his musical ability, but for his general good qualities as one of the boys. The seats are going fast, and a full house is more than assured for what will undoubtedly be a first-class performance.

Should be Made to Walk.

The bicyclists of the city are as a rule very careful when riding on the sidewalk, but there are a few who might ring their bell a little oftener or at least keep their eyes open. One of the latter class while riding along Second street yesterday afternoon ran into a crowd of little girls playing on the sidewalk. One of them was unable to get out of the way in time and was consequently knocked down. The same man crowded two ladies off the sidewalk into the road to allow him to pass.

Generous Subscriptions.

The five unfortunate Chinamen, for whom Darcey island was obtained by the city, will be removed to their new homes on the island to-morrow morning. They will be put on board a barge, which will be towed up by the Alert. Ald. Holland, who has been taking such an interest in the scheme, went around to the different Chinese merchants yesterday, and succeeded in getting $119.50 in cash, 7 mats of rice, 25 pounds of tea and a sack of potatoes for the maintenance of the sick Chinamen.

The Stationing Committee.

The stationing committee of the Methodist Conference met this morning to arrange the matters of stationing the ministers throughout the Province. Victoria district is to be represented by Revs. Joseph Hall and A. E. Green; New Westminster district by Revs. C. Bryant and E. Robson; Kamloops by Revs. T. W. Hall and James Turner; Fort Simpson by Rev. Thomas Crosby, and a delegate to be appointed. The committee will submit their report to conference on Thursday morning. The clerical convention will be held to-morrow.

The Story of a Thrilling Ride.

In the Gorge Road church last evening a large assemblage listened to a thrilling story of the novel experience of Rev. Mr. Dean, who rode from Banff to Revelstoke on a railroad bicycle. The rev. gentleman, who is the first to have ever undertaken such a trip, took his listeners fairly with him over the road again, so vivid was his description, and so interestingly was it given. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Epworth League. Mr. Dean leaves for home again by to-morrow's Islander, but will do the overland part in one of the C.P. Railway's Pullman's this time.

Bound Northward

The steamer Mexico arrived at the ocean dock early this morning from the Sound and left about 10:30 for Alaska. She has on board quite a number of passengers, a few of whom are tourists, but the majority are miners and canners. Dr. Hassiocker, manager of the California mining company, and Dr. Rogers, of the Marine Hospital, Sitka, Carl Spuhr and Howard Tilton boarded her here. Her freight is a good one consisting of 1100 tons of general merchandise. Fifty tons of this was taken on here there being about 10 tons of flour and other merchandise for Cassiar and other places.

Work for the Police.

The crooks who migrated here to secure places of residence before the great celebration rush, are making themselves felt. A lady who is visiting town from one of the outlying districts was last night relieved of the sum of $100, which was taken out of her pocket. Another case occurred wherein a man called at the house of a well known contractor telling the lady there that the owner of the house had sent him for six dollars. The housekeeper could not find her purse and was unable to give the money to the applicant, but on enquiry in the evening she learned that no such message had been sent by the contractor.

The Police Stop Them.

Several sure thing gamblers and sharpers of the class that generally follow a circus around opened up their games here last night but were soon stopped by Supt. Sheppard. It seems peculiar how some men will play against the games that these men carry with them. Almost anybody that has read a newspaper knows how often these games have been exposed but there still seems to be some who think they can beat them in spite of the warnings. For instance last evening a young man who thought he knew it all tried each of the games until something like $80 had disappeared from his pocket book.

Steamer Victorian.

The Union Pacific's new steamer Victorian, which was built at Portland, is almost completed, and it is expected that she will enter the waters of Puget Sound either this week or next. The Victorian is said to be one of the finest steamers on the Pacific coast. When equipped ready for service she will have cost the company a quarter of a million dollars. The hull is 250 feet over all, the extreme width 45 feet, depth of hold 16 feet 6 inches. She draws 15 feet of water and will carry 500 passengers. Her average speed has been estimated at 20 knots an hour. She is schooner-rigged, with masts 76 feet long and topmasts 45 feet each. She is fitted out with all the latest improvements, including steam-steering apparatus.

Victoria's Paradise.

In a place like Victoria, surrounded by pleasure resorts, there cannot but be a favorite one. Victoria Gardens have, under the present capable management, won the title, and it is the intention of the proprietor to maintain it. This season, and particularly during the coming celebrations, a special effort will be made to entertain both visitors and residents of Victoria; a first-class table will be kept, and only first-class arrangements generally will be observed. No games of chance whatever will be tolerated, the chief object of Mr. and Mrs. Davies being to ensure the perfect enjoyment of their patrons, who can roam at will through the delightful grounds, or fish in the quiet waters of the Arm; while those trippingly inclined can avail themselves of the spacious dancing hall.

As Others See Us.

Liberal, broad-minded, frank, patriotic and judicious were the words which inspired enthusiasm at the Y.M.I. banquet recently held in Victoria. It is a pity that such patriotic subjects of Her Majesty should in any way have the nobility of their characters curbed by the limitations of trans-Atlantic allegiance. They are Americans in every sence of the word. They love good government—they frankly admit our claims of national glory, but no one has ever dared to question their fealty to the laws under which they have grown to be a distinctive and almost independent people. While we would gladly welcome our neighbors over the line to join us in the national cotillion, we must assure them that nothing is more admirable than their present demonstrations of national self-respect.—Portland Sentinel.

The Defects of the Warspite.

Some apprehension is expressed in naval circles that the Warspite, which has been ordered to Esquimalt to be docked, will not be able to be accommodated in the dock at that port, owing to the great beam of the vessel. The Amphion was docked at Esquimalt after her accident, but it is stated that the dock was only just large enough to take that vessel, although the latter has 18 feet less beam and is shorter than the Warspite by 15 feet. The Warspite is reported to have developed rather serious structural defects, the exact nature of which has not transpired, but unless these defects were serious it is scercely probable that the admiralty would have ordered the ship to leave the coast of Chili at the present crisis. It is hoped that by placing the Warspite upon very high blocks that the difficulties in connection with the narrowness of the Esquimalt dock may be overcome.

St. Savior's Church Opened

Another pretty ceremony was performed at the building of this church to-day by His Lordship Bishop Hills. Not many weeks since he laid the corner stone of the now nearly completed church, whose graceful lines rise from a spot that a few months ago was but rocks and shrubs. The service to-day was the usual dedicatory ceremony of the Church of England, the sermon being preached by his lordship who dwelt on the occasion and its significance of the advancement of the church's great mission. The clergy assisting his lordship were, Rev. Mr. A. Beanlands, Rev. Mr. Barber, the incumbent, and Rev. George Taylor. Miss Harris presided at the organ, and the choral portion of the service was rendered by members from the choirs of St. Savior's, St. James and St. Barnabas. This evening there will be a full choral service, at which Rev. Mr. Beanlands will preach.

"The Woman Hater."

As between Sol Smith Russell in "The Poor Relation" and Roland Reed in "The Woman Hater," there is little similiarity of style, but Reed, like Russell, is a finished commedian; is, like Artemus Ward's possum, "an amusin' little cuss." Mr. Reed kept the house in a roar from the rising of the curtain to its fall, and in the comedy "Lend Me Your Wife," which will occupy his attention to-night, cachinnation will be the order of the day, or rather the consequence of the performance. Mr. Reed is well supported. Any of his support are perfect in their lines. The two widows were irresistably funny in their impersonations of the foibles of their kind. Their anxiety to marry again was almost painful in its intenseness, and the audience drew a sigh of relief when in the fourth act it was developed that they had found their respective affinities. Perhaps the best test of Mr. Reed's popularity lies in the fact that there is a circus in town. The actor who can draw a good house simultaneous with the advent of a circus in Victoria, is comparatively independent of printer's ink. This was the case with Mr. Reed, and it may be supposed that "Lend Me Your Wife" will prove a greater attraction than "The Woman Hater."

McMahon's Circus

This organization spread their spacious tents at the corner of Douglas and Herald streets and to say that the vast audience present was more than pleased is drawing it mild. Arenic celebrities culled from the large establishments of both England and America are numerous. Even far off Russia sends to these shores Jo Jo, the Russian dog-face boy, pronounced by scientists to be one of the most remarkable freaks of human nature, his face being covered with a mass of canine hair resembling that of a skye terrier. From the Antipodes a strange man, named Urzie an Albino, born of black parents, a gentleman of culture, a musician and philosopher. In the circus proper "Queen Jumbo" the relict of the late Jumbo performs feats, the accomplishment of which evinces intellect, almost bordering upon the human. Siegrist the bare-back rider and William O'Dell the four-horse equestrian have both graced the ring of the great Barnum. The acrobatic performances of the three Doran brothers, equals that of the Hanlons. John Ruth the equilibrist manipulates with his feet a barrel and huge table with great dexterity. Funny Emerson, the clown, kept the large audience in roars of laughter by his grimaces and witty sayings. John Quigly the long distance leaper carries the proud title of champion of both continents. Mlle. Alma, empress of the air, is the embodiment of grace and daring. Individual criticism is impossible for the want of space, suffice it to say that McMahon has kept faith with the citizens of Victoria. A matinee was given at 2 o'clock to-day and the last performance will be to-nigh at 8 p.m.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

(Before Mr. Justice Drake.)

McPherson vs. Flummerfelt et al—Defendants in this case applied for an order requiring plaintiff to give the court security for costs; proceedings in the meantime to be stayed. The court granted an order for $140.

H. B. Potts for plaintiff; D. M. Eberts for defendants.

COURT OF ASSIZE.

At the opening of the court this morning the Grand Jury roll was called, and his lordship said there was one more case for their consideration.

Regina vs. Hugo Bates and 14 others for conspiracy to compel Messrs. Dunsmuir to discharge certain employees, that did not belong to the Miners' Union, and also conspiring to intimidate the said non-union miners and compel them to quit work. The Grand Jury then retired to consider the evidence.

Regina vs. Petersen—In this the Petit Jury had brought in a verdict of guilty. Mr. Mills for the prosecution moved that his lordship pass sentence forthwith.

On his lordship asking the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, Mr. Belyea, his attorney, said that as the prisoner was not able to speak English well, he would speak for him. He appealed to his lordship to deal as lightly with the prisoner in passing sentence as he felt in his discretion and the fact of the evidence was possible.

His lordship then sentenced the prisoner to seven years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

COURT NOTES.

In the case Regina vs. Hugo Bates et al, an order for a change of venu had been obtained from Nanaimo to Victoria.

In the case of Charlie, the Indian who was charged with assault and robbery, and also with receiving stolen goods, the verdict was for receiving stolen property only. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. S. Perry Mills for defence; the Attorney-General for the prosecution.

Thought Reading.

Alexander James McIvor Tyndall ("Ali Nomad"), the thought reader, will give a reception at the Driard before leaving for Vancouver, and possibly may give a public entertainment. Mr. Tyndall is a young Englishman, who about seven or eight years ago, became conscious that he possessed the power of reading the thoughts of others, and since that time he has been engaged in experimenting with all "manner and conditions of men" and in giving exhibitions of a gift which all good Scotchmen would say was uncanny if not supernatural. Mr. Tyndall has succeeded in drawing the picture of a politician who was thought of by the subject whose hand he held, and the likeness is said to have been much better than those presented by the Colonist and the TIMES of the same individual a few weeks ago. An article hidden anywhere can be found; distance does not make the discovery more difficult, it only adds to the physicial exertion, for so long as the subject concentrates his thoughts on the objective point, the muscular, or mental, telegraphy goes on. Mr. Tyndall would make a most successful detective, or as a justice of our supreme court he would simply be invaluable. Imagine Sir Matthew Ballie Begbie an infallible mind reader! He would never more be a fallible judge. Or as a lawyer, Mr Tyndall would be invincible. But with all his powers there is one thing he cannot tell. He cannot read the thoughts of the editor of the Colonist on the protection-reciprocity-old-flag-experimental-ranch-question, and if he will undertake it in public or private, and succeed the TIMES will admit that it was mistaken when it put a limit to the extraordinary mental perception which he unquestionably possesses.

DID CHRIST DIE UPON THE CROSS.

To the Editor:—A severe attack of neuralgia in the head, from which I am now only partially free, has delayed my answer to the letter inserted in the Times of Thursday last, and signed "Joseph Spencer." That letter appeared so devoid of purpose, so inconsequential, and connected with unsupported assertions concerning matters lying outside the area of original discussion, that it might have remained unnoticed but for two salient features, one too closely touching the writer's character, and one too nearly mine. With equal parsimony in wit and courtesy, he says: "Mr. Pegg has been leaning upon an Egyptian reed, and it has pierced him;" and with a no higher regard for truth, he speaks of "the quotation from Justin pressed into service by Mr. Pegg," etc. Of the accuracy of the first statement, the reader will be my impartial judge. That I pressed any one of the fathers into service I deny. It was Mr. Spencer who alleged that the fathers, and the early Christian Church did not glory in the cross. I quoted from Justin Martyr's Apology language that proved that he regarded it as the highest object of glorying. The reference to Constantine was made with the purpose of showing that the laity emulated the clergy in this particular. One is among the oldest and most revered of the fathers, the other is very generally esteemed the most worthy layman in the early Christian Church. Why they employed the cross, or even whence they obtained that form, did not affect that contention, which was that the form employed was that of the cross, and that this was the glory of the early Christian Church. If such reasoning were "pressed into service," Mr. Spencer is responsible for enlisting on his side such auxiliaries as the fathers, who, almost without exception, would war against him. But he alleges that the sign of the cross was handed to them by tradition, and used without any design of associating it with the instrument of the death of Christ. Justin Martyr, of whom he speaks with some confidence, shall answer for himself and the church. I give his words translated into English, for the sake of the general reader: "But in no instance, nor in the history of any of those who were called the sons of Jupiter, did they imitate his (Christ's) crucifixion, for since all that was spoken respecting this was figuratively expressed as we have shown, it was unintelligible to them. Now, the cross, as the prophet hath predicted, is the greatest sign of his might and dominion, as is plain from what falls under our own observation. For observe how impossible it is that anything in the world should be regulated, or any mutual intercourse carried on, without employing this figure. The sea cannot be navigated unless this symbol, as the mast and yardarm of the sail remains firm on the ship. This form in the countenance also hath the nose reaching downward from the forehead, by which we are able to breathe. This again shows no figure but that of the cross. The signs also in use among yourselves show the use of the same figure (as in the instance of standards) and trophies, etc." (The apology of Justin Martyr 72; see also Justin's Dialogues, 317, 313, 322). Now Mr. Spencer says this sign was used merely as a Masonic sign, and for purposes of admission into Christian assemblies. This allegation shall be met by a quotation from Tertulian's De Corona Militis, cap 3, and in his own words for the sake of absolute accuracy. "Ad omnem progressum atque promotum, ad omnem aditum, et exitum, ad vestitum, ad ad calciatum, ad lavacra, ad mensas, ad lumina, ad cubilia, ad sedilia, quaecunque, nos conversatio exercet, frontem crucis signaculo terimus." "Every stake which is erected, is but part of a cross" (Tertullians, Apol: 278). An earlier writer, Ignatius (Ep: Ad Smyrn), writes of this sign: "By the fruits of which, by the most blessed passion, we are: that he might set up a token." apparently referring to Isai: V. 26 as a prophecy of the cross. I will not insult your readers' understandings by supposing they need additional proofs, that the very form of the cross was linked to the instrument of Christ's death, and was employed, as Tertullian says, in the Latin quotation, on almost all occasions, and not restrictively, as a token of fellowship, and a password.

But the part of Mr. Spencer's letter from which I must befend my character, is that in which he refers to Jewish history, and makes a number of statements, some opposed to historical evidence, and some to Scripture, in connection with the traditional transmission of cross-symbolisms. In a previous letter, replying to "Crux," I maintained that, among the pagans a similar symbolism had been in use to that which was prevalent in later days among Christians; and I contended that it was not consistent that the ensign of the vanquished foe should be used as the standard of the Christian commonwealth. Mr. Spencer supports the same view, but by such statements as I am bound to repudiate. I have seen them before in Treatises on Secret Societies, and in Manuals on Pseudo-Masonic rites; but, largely the product of atheistic fancy, their defence can secure little honor to the scholar, and less to the Christian. Any man may circulate them innocently, knowing neither their nature nor tendency; but silence on my part would be culpable. Without entering the vast region beyond, and to which they lead, I may content myself with giving indications only of my reasons for rejecting material of this kind. The land from which Abraham emigrated, Chaldea, was the country in which above all others, the heavenly bodies formed objects of worship, its inhabitants sharing in a cult that Mr. Gladstone in his "Homeric Synchronisms," judges universal. Herodotus, in his second and third book, restricts the devotion of the Chaldeans to the worship of Jupiter Belus, and a goddess corresponding to Venus. It is probable that ancestral worship was unknown in 1898 B.C., and impossible that Abraham introduced circumcision to abolish that form of idolatry. The testimony of scripture is, that the rite was of divine appointment." Gen. xvii. That the crossing of the hands of Jacob, or the lifting the hands of Moses in prayer, were typical of the cross, is an assumption unsupported by evidence. And the Union Jack certainly was not a substitute for the Roman eagles. It is formed of three crosses. The cross of St. George, who came from Cappadocia, and died at Alexandria, and is red on white. James I. added St. Andrew's cross, which is white on blue; and St. Patrick's was united in 1801, and is red on white. The term Jack is taken from the older word Jaque, meaning jacket.

Mr. Spencer finally attempts to defend his position by constructing a syllogism, and this is the strange form it assumes: "Major:—Christ died upon a stauros;" and he has not even attempted to prove that the word meant anything but cross in the time of Our Lord. "Minor:—Stake the English of the word stauros;" which I have shown from contemporary classical writers, and the early fathers, not to have been the ordinary meaning of the term at the time of Our Lord's death. Therefore the alleged conclusion does not follow. Stauros did mean a stake in Homer's days; it was a staff in the age of Sophocles; and a cross in the days of Hellenic Greek, the date of Our Lord's death. This change in the history of words is common. Let me illustrate it by one near at hand. From the Latin word "despendere," the old French word "displease," a "buttery" is formed; in a species of corrupted English, from this is derived "despenser," a man who delivers supplies from the pantry." The word grows into a family name, and is borne by a peer, as Lord Spencer. That nobleman used to wear a short jacket, which, after him, was termed a spencer. Let me take this one meaning of the word, and use it after the manner of your correspondent, thus:

Major—Your correspondent's name is Spencer.

Minor—English of the word Spencer, short jacket.

Conclusion—Your correspondent is a short jacket.

When about to close this letter, I saw the strange effusion which your correspondent, Mr. Blythe, had the courage to send to your journal. Either he has not read the correspondence on the subject, or does not understand its purport. As I never saw "Dr. Smith's Dictionary of the Bible" in my life, he has had that advantage beyond me, and might have penned wiser and truer words. For myself, a few volumes of the Fathers, my Hebrew and Greek Lexicons, "Michaeli's Hebrew Bible, versions of the "Septaugint," "Greek Testaments," the classical writers, and one or two other volumes, represent my narrow field of research. If, however, one hand has been industriously turning the leaves of a long-disused Bible, through this discussion, a double profit will be gained, in which I shall be a contented sharer.

J. Burnham Pegg.

Victoria, May 18, 103 Government street.

We'll write it down till everybody sees it.

Till everybody is sick of seeing it.

Till everybody knows it without seeing it—

That Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head, catarrhal headache, and "cold in the head." In perfect faith, its makers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N.Y., offers to pay $500 to any one suffering from chronic catarrh in the head whom they cannot cure.

Now if the conditions were reversed—if they asked you to pay $500 for a positive cure you might hesitate. Here are reputable men, with years of honorable dealing; thousands of dollars and a great name back of them, and they say: "We can cure you, because we've cured thousands of others like you; if we can't, we will pay you $500 for the knowledge that there's one whom we can't cure."

They believe in themselves. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh.

Bad, Worse, Worst.

PACIFIC COAST EMPLOYMENT SOCIETY.

TO THE EDITOR:—Last fall some twenty young servant girls were sent to Victoria by the United British Women's Emigration Society, the Secretary, Hon. Mrs. Joyce. The majority of these girls have turned out satisfactory, and are now holding good situations in and about Victoria. Reference can be had to any of their employers. The secretary of the U.W.E.S. is willing to send another contingent to Victoria under suitable protection, provided a sufficient number are applied for, and the railway expenses (from Montreal, viz: $40 for each girl) are lent to the society by those who wish for a servant, the same amount to be refunded out of the girl's wages. The secretary writes: "If you wish for good servants you must do your share in sending for them; if not we will send them to other colonies, where they are in greater demand. But we prefer to send to Canada." Anyone wishing for a good servant to be sent out from England through the society, or those having relatives when they wish to send out under protection, will kindly communicate with the hon. secretary of the Pacific Coast Employment Society. Thanking you for this favor. I am, yours faithfully,

W. G. H. ELLISON, Victoria.
Hon. Sect., P.C.E.S., May 18, 1891.

BRITISH COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

TO THE EDITOR:—In my last letter, I endeavored to show the necessity for a British Columbia University, and the important bearing which such an institution must have upon the general welfare of the people. I have now to deal with the "ways and means" in order to build and to liberally endow a University, which should be of such renown as to be the best possible advertisement for British Columbia.

It must be acknowledged that it is highly desirable to see our public lands taken up by bona fide settlers, and that if we are to develop the great natural resources of our Province we should use every means in our power to promote immigration, and also to increase the facilities for the acquisition of land under certain conditions of development.

The cash value obtained by the sale of Government lands is a very small item in the advantages which accrue to the country by settlement. So soon as the land is sold and settled upon, it turns a passive asset of the Province into an active one, and not only does it benefit the country by producing revenue, but it adds to the collective wealth of the people, increases trade, and circulates capital. An increase of raw produce, whether it be in the form of minerals, of timber, of cattle, or of agricultural products, means an increase of capital or wealth, and it cannot be produced without labor, and labor cannot be provided without people. But there is another necessary factor in the output of raw produce, besides land and labor, and that is "capital." The laborer must have tools with which to work and buildings in which to live. In our great Province we have abundance of land, but as regards the production of wealth, the land is absolutely valueless without labor and capital. It is therefore evident that the cash value of the sale of land is a very insignificant factor in the wealth of the country, and we may disregard it as compared with the introduction of labor and capital. If, then, we can devise any means by which we can facilitate the introduction of labor, and by so doing at the same time obtain the necessary capital for building and liberally endowing a British Columbia University, we should surely do it without hesitation.

To build a university worthy of the Province, with its library, laboratory, museums, lecture-rooms, etc., will require $500,000. To provide a fund, the interest of which at 5 per cent. would endow it liberally with professors, fellowships, scholarships, etc., would require say $2,500,000.

This sum can readily be provided in the following manner:—Let the people, that is their trustee the Government, make a free grant to the University of 3,200,000 acres of land, in land warrants of 160 acres each. These land warrants to be made available in any part of the Province, and when located to be subject to the conditions of the land laws of the Province.

It will be observed that this will not lock up a single acre of land, but when the land warrant was located, it would mean either the immediate development of the land, or a payment in the form of revenue of the heavy wild land tax which was instituted last session.

The land warrants would be equivalent to Government paper; they would be negotiable in the money market, and would be sold by the University at a sum not exceeding the Government price of land, and as a consequence immigration and the introduction of capital. We should, in fact by means of them, assist in completing the trinity of factors which are necessary for the production of wealth, namely, land, labor and capital, and we should, at the same time, acquire ample funds for the building and liberal endowment of a splendid university.

To argue, as a few people do, that a system of land warrants might be an abuse, because it would allow of people selecting all the best portions of the land in the country, is to say the best of it, very weak, because, as things are at present, the land is open to the world for purchase, and besides this, should we not do or utmost to get such portions of land taken up and settled? What good are they to the state or to any one else, as they are now, lying idle or unproductive? If we could see every portion of good land in the whole province taken up and settled to-morrow, it would be one of the greatest blessings which could happen, both to the country and to the people. Land monopoly and land settlement are two very different things. The former is an evil, the latter the greatest benefit. The one can be remedied by applying the lever of taxation, the other should be encouraged by every possible means.

I maintain that by the scheme I have proposed, we should assist immigration, and by facilitating the acquisition of lands we should materially increase the wealth of the country, while at the same time, we should obtain a university which would be the pride of our country and the envy of others. I commit the idea to the press, in the hope that it may receive any criticism, or support which it may deserve, in order that when the next session of the Legislative Assembly arrives, we may be fully posted as to the merits of the case. Thanking you for the space that you have been kind enough to accord me, I am, yours faithfully, JAMES BAKER.

UNGENTLEMANLY CONDUCT.

TO THE EDITOR,—The police should keep a sharp eye on a certain class of drivers, who are in the habit of insulting unprotected young ladies in our public streets. MORALS.

Personal Liberty vs Physical Slavery.

We are all free Americans citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which disolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

Of One Opinion---Victoria Recognizes True Merit.

During the visit of Professor Seward, the celebrated optician of New York, last fall a large number of prominent ladies and gentlemen, not only of Victoria, but surrounding cities, called and had glasses adjusted to their eyesight, and now since Professor Seward's return, he finds, as he expected, the universal expression to be, "His work is the best that has ever been accomplished in Victoria." Professor Seward has been especially successful in correcting the most difficult of defective sight, also of adjusting cataract glasses and fitting artificial eyes. His stay in Victoria can only be of short duration, as he has promised on this trip to stop at Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, and at Seattle and Tacoma on the Sound, which he could not do on the last trip on account of limited time. This will be the last trip to the Pacific coast. A record of the examination and test of each patron is kept on file, and the glasses can be duplicated at any future time by addressing Prof. F. D. Seward, P.O. box 3567, New York. Office hours while in Victoria, 9 a.m to 5 p.m. Cor. Yates and Douglas streets, over drug store.

N.B.—Prof. Seward makes no charge for preliminary examination.

NANAIMO NEWS.

Wants to Suicide—A Small Fire—A Scow for a Scavenger.

NANAIMO, May 19.—A man named Boyle, who some time ago attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, has evidently made another attempt to take his life by drowning. The sailors of the ship Commodore, which is lying at the N.V.Co's wharf, were disturbed by hearing cries of distress proceeding from the side of the vessel, and on looking over they discovered the man Boyle in the water. He was quickly taken from the water and questions piled to him by his rescuers. Boyle stated he was taking a swim and thought that he was drowning so that was the reason why he cried out. The man is evidently insane.

A LITTLE FIRE.

A little boy of Mr. W. McGregor, manager of the V. C. Co., accidentally set fire to the barn yesterday, and before the hose reel could reach the scene the fire had got a strong hold and it was impossible to save it. The fire laddies were promptly on the scene, and bent their energies to save the surrounding property, which was close to it. The water supply was most unsatisfactory, and had the house caught instead of the barn it would have been impossible to put it out with such a stream of water. The damage done by the fire is about $100.

SETTLING UP THE COUNTRY.

Mr. E. Priest, C.E., returned yesterday from a trip to Desolation Sound, where he has been surveying a number of timber claims. He reports that a large number of people are gradually settling in that country, and although it is a mineral country, so far no claims have been staked out. He brought down several nuggets which he succeeded in finding, and he avers there are rich, regular ledges of quartz in that country, and firmly believes in the course of a few years it will be found equal to Kootenay.

MUCH NEEDED.

Ald. Campbell has been striving hard to obtain the consent of the council to permit him to have a scow built that will answer the purpose of the scavengers. Ald. Campbell clearly points out the advantages of such a vessel, but his colleagues think the affair will be too costly. The householders are told they must desist from depositing their ashes on the street, but they want to know where to put them? Unless the council carry out Ald. Campbell's idea, ashes must be deposited on the street until some other means has been devised to take them away.

HANDSOME RESIDENCES.

The two handsome residences that are being erected in this city are those of Mr. S. M. Robins and Judge Harrison respectively. The former is situated on the esplanade, midway between the wharf and the office. It is a handsome specimen of architecture, being both commodious and well built. There are thirteen carpenters engaged on the work, which is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Judge Harrison's building commands an excellent view of the bay on account of its elevated possion. The cost of this dwelling when completed, is said to be about $7000. It will be fitted up in all the latest improvements.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

John Ducca will be tried before Judge Harrison on Thursday for the burglary crimes at Wellington.

The shares for the electric tramway are rapidly being taken up.

Shipping continues to increase in the harbor although the dispatch is prompt.

An Old Canadian Statesman Dead.

A Halifax dispatch of the 19th says Sir Edward Kenny, father of Thomas E. Kinny, is dead, aged 90. Sir Edward Kenny was born in County Kerry, Ireland, in 1800. He was educated in Ireland and came in 1824 to Halifax, N. S., where he engaged in trade. He sat in the legislative council of Nova Scotia for 26 years, and for 11 years was its president. He became a member of the Privy Council, and in July, 1867, was appoint Receiver-General of Canada, which portfolio he held till 1869, when he became President of the Privy Council. He retired from the cabinet in May, 1870, on being appointed administrator of the Government of Nova Scotia. He was called to the Senate in May, 1867, and resigned in 1876, and was knighted in 1870.
